SO. BAY ASKS SUB-COURTHOUSE LOCATION TO BE ON SR 717

WEST PALM BEACH — The City of South Bay, in a letter signed by Mayor S. J. Fisher, this week asked the County Commission to consider a site on the new SR 717 near Pahokee Airport as the site of a proposed Glades courthouse annex.

The letter pointed out that public-owned property is available there, that a sub-courthouse location on the new road would be a central point for serving the Glades.

'AGINNERS' IN PAHOKEE THREATEN ZONING; 3rd PUBLIC HEARING TO BE MONDAY NIGHT AT 8

PAHOKEE — The vocal minority of Pahokee "aginnners" will wreck the proposed new zoning ordinance Monday night if the local progressive faction doesn't turn out to stop them, it appeared this week.

Disaster for the proposed zoning changes was narrowly averted Monday night at a City Council hearing, and a third public discussion of the project was set for this coming Friday at 8 p. m. at the request of Mayor Lewis Friend and Zoning Expert Frederick H. Bair, Jr.

Bair and a zoning commission specially appointed to revise the present zoning laws, have been working since last September on new and stricter zone requirements.

Cline Back On So. Bay Police

SOUTH BAY — Frank Cline is again serving as patrolman on the local police force, his re-hiring awaiting official city commission action Monday.

Cline, formerly in the force three months ago as the result of an injury. He replaces Lester Rhudy who was dismissed at the last commission meeting when a definition of his police duties was unsatisfactorily resolved after he requested a modification in his basic police orders.

Cline, it is reported, will be serving under the same regulations with which Rhudy felt he could not satisfactorily comply.

There are more Navy personnel serving in destroyer-type vessels than in any other category.

More than $500 already has been invested by the city in the zoning revision, and Monday's was the third public hearing on the matter.

The "aginnners" protested that they had not known of the proposed changes in the present ordinances, and objected strenuously to points changing Barfield Highway area into a residential area from a commercial zone, and to new requirements on present and future residential areas in colored town.

Pahokee councilmen previously had accepted the work of the zoning board on the new ordinance as satisfactory, and recommended Chairman Bob Appleton, Wiley Tillis, Otto Blech, Mike Sanders, and Joe Kahn for the long hours of work put in on the revisions.

Both the zoning board and the Council have held public hearings on the ordinance before the session this week.

There was visible evidence of wavering on the part of several of the members of Council, although James Harry Wilkinson.

New Road Link In Preliminary Stage

Approval of action to procure needed right-of-way to construct a road to link the old and the new Belle Glade-Pahokee roads was granted this week by the County Commission.

Also at the Monday commission meeting, it was reported that county and state engineers were completing plans for removal of a section of a bridge at Canal Point to make way for passage of the large dredge which has been at work in FCD canals. Commissioner Paul Rardin asked that County Engineer Steve Middleton contact the SRD to make plans for rerouting traffic, installation of traffic signals and for rebuilding a section of the bridge, after the dredge has moved on to the dredge will be required to pay for rebuilding the highway bridge.

Pipe Line Study Planned

BELLE GLADE — First steps were taken by the City Commission, in regular meeting Wednesday, to learn whether Belle Glade might connect into a proposed gas pipe line leading from Texas to Miami.

Barnum and Buck, engineers surveying potential pipe line routes and possible users of the gas distributed by the Texas Gas and Oil Corp., reported to the Chamber of Commerce, which report was turned over to the commission by Mrs. Edwina C. Young, chamber secretary, that the pipe line was proposed to run east of Lake Okeechobee from a point near Okeechobee to Bryant. From there it would run to a point near Twenty Mile Bend.

The city was requested to work up an engineering report relative to the natural gas line and the feasibility of Belle Glade's tying into it for presentation by Barnum and Buck to the Federal Power Commission, along with similar data from other communities. The FPC must approve the proposed line before final plans can be made, it was reported.

Will Ask Check

Herman Close moved that Belle Glade's consulting engineers, Russell and Axon, of Daytona, be asked to do investigation and preparation of a feasibility report to their agenda of work already scheduled to be done in the near future for the city relative to sewer plans. The engineering firm, as consultant, takes on the various studies required by the city at a minimum cost. The commission agreed unanimously to having the pipe line study made at the same time the engineers are in the city to survey sewer needs.

Mayor Walter Ashley heard commissioners agree to provide 1500 yards of rock excavated from the Hillsborough Canal to the Port Authority for completion of the port of Belle Glade. Commissioner H. O. Carleton discussed the kinds of available material and it was agreed to make available the rock that would be of most use in raising grades on approaches to the existing port facility. On suggestion of Close, the commission added a request for a port structure to the motion granting the rock to the Port Authority.

Other Actions

Commissioners Zack Ingram and Eugene Ellis, along with Carleton, Close and Mayor Ashley acted on the following:

PAID bills in the amount of $85.73 from the general fund and $28.44 out of the waterworks fund.

INSTALLED a drinking water fountain in City Park;

GRANTED mail carriers permission to pass through gates at water plant;

APPROVED a plat of Irene Park submitted by John Pickett in behalf of I. H. Samuels;

FROM OUR NOTEBOOK

by LORA S. BRITT

The ever-increasing number of high school marriages has become a matter of grave concern to the people here and throughout the state. They are beginning to ask what can be done to stem the tide of such serious teenage romance.

The situation is not peculiar to a particular locality. Throughout Florida high school educators have discussed the problem of prohibiting the attendance at public schools of married persons. Many of them recall that such regulations were enforced at one time in some Florida schools. Many states have laws on the books which prohibit the attendance at public schools of married persons. They also believe that the military service most boys must face at 18 is a reason for much of the high school wedding.

Parents of students, particularly those of pre-high school age, want to know if our County or State Legislation cannot be enacted prohibiting the attendance at public schools of married persons. Many of them recall that such regulations were enforced at one time in some Florida schools. Many states have laws on the books which prohibit the attendance at public schools of married persons. They also believe that the military service most boys must face at 18 is a reason for much of the high school wedding.

Educators say that the problems connected with married students in high schools are many and varied. Rules that pertain to other students cannot always be logically applied to those who are married. A teen-age girl, suffering the illness of early pregnancy, can scarcely be expected to maintain the same element as the other girls. At the same time, it is a disturbing element in the classroom to have the girl and her problems. Other students team up with their sympathies for her. This is only one of many matters with which the school must cope.

Boys, who cannot give their entire attention to athletics because they are too worried over whether or not they will be a father before the year is out, are also to be considered. These are only two of the many matters with the school must cope.

Parents, who have looked into the matter thoroughly, say they realize the desire of parents in wanting their children to have a high school education despite teenage marriage and housekeeping. But they point out that one such union in a high school sets off a wave of premature marital interests and soon there are many other couples married, intent upon the accompanying problems and trying to keep up with their school work. At the same time, other students have an undue curiosity in obtaining an education to combat teenage marriage studies as they should.

The problem has become so acute that in one South Florida school, couples must go before a "board of review" after marriage to give good reason why they should remain in school. They must prove that they are truly interested in receiving an education. So far, according to reports, no students have even gone to the board. They just do not return to school.

To the statement that to prevent married children from attending high school is contrary to their Constitutional rights, parents point out that it is no more un-Constitutional than setting 18 as the legal age for marriage.

Not even the most ardent parent wants to deny youth's young dream. He only asks that there be legislation to prevent its being a part of the academic education of their teen-age children. They believe that the years between 14 and 18, with its many complexities of growing up, obtaining an education, and the far too numerous to be complicated by the moral and social problems that arise where single and married youths must attend school together.

ATOMIC POWER FOR FLORIDA—The Atomic Energy Commission has approved a proposal by the Seminole Electric Cooperative to make a study to see if small central station nuclear power plant is feasible. DAYTONA BOUND: Congressman Syd Herlong's idea to have spring baseball training for the members of Congress at Daytona Beach has become a major annual promotion. It all started three years ago when Syd, as manager of the Democratic ball club, arranged for the members of both teams to train during the Easter recess at Daytona Beach. The city was only too happy to take care of the local expenses for the party. The first year, when 25 Congressmen and their wives made the trip. Last year the number increased to 45. This season will see an all time high of 65 or more Congressmen plus members of their families. A few more years at that rate and you will be able to call the House to order at Daytona Beach during the Easter season.

TELEPHONES AND HICCUPS

SOME RELATIONSHIPS ESTABLISHED

Results of Twenty-five Year's Study

by CHRISTOPHER HOLLIS

The Minister of Health made an official announcement yesterday that a relationship had been established between telephoning and hiccups. He emphasized that nobody yet knew what that relationship was and that therefore uninformed and uneducated people should be drawn from this information, which was contained in a report presented to him by the Committee on Telephoning and Hiccups.

The Minister's statement was made in a written form.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Sen. George Smathers

WASHINGTON—Any one who has never had any experience with competitive racing understands the inviolable rule about keeping your eyes to the front and your mind on the finish line. Those who succumb to the temptation to look back are most likely to get out of the race.

It is to be hoped that this country will not be diverted in this manner from major goals by the fuss and fury over the Yalta papers.

The writing of history is vitally important, and there is much to be learned from a study of past experiences, and the application of lessons gained to the present. Discussion of history has its place in our official life, and there are times when the placing of events in proper perspective is of great importance.

The public discussion going on today seems not particularly concerned with the writing of history, but with a clamor for the removal of the knowledge of what actually happened. It is not, but I do know it is not helping the country. It seems to me that just about as much good is being accomplished as would be gained by public debate over the Civil War. In my judgment, we should resolve to drop the political aspects of the subject.

On second thought, perhaps I should not have brought up the subject even to make that of a suggestion.

MORE EXPERIENCE FOR THE SUPREME COURT: There is a very small minority the other day in voting against the confirmation of Judge John Harlan to be a member of the United States Supreme Court.

THE OTHER 10 SENATORS who voted against Mr. Harlan, I felt that since we have no justices presently on our highest court with considerable judicial background, some man surely could be found who was better qualified as a jurist. I think highly of the proposed Constitutional amendment, offered by Senator John Stennis of Mississippi, which would require nominees for the Supreme Court to come from the ranks of experienced lower court judges. I did not feel Mr. Harlan met such requirements.

However, no what Justice Harlan has been confirmed, I wish him well and feel confident he will do all in his ability to honor the position he holds.

TROUBLE FOR RECIPROCAL TRADE: Those who are convinced of the importance of continuing the trade policy which are the backbone of the "Good Neighbor" program unquestionably are in for a tough fight if they wish to remain effective realists in the pending legislation.

It will be recalled that the bill recommended by the President had long stalling in the House, surviving one key attack by only a single vote. It is not unlikely that similar close votes will come in the Senate on various aspects of the bill.

From what I have learned, substantial amending is assured in store for the bill. It is only to be hoped that the amendments will not be so broad as to have crippling effects upon our trade relations with our Latin American friends.

any answer. At a Press Conference at the Ministry the Minister explained that hiccups were always unusually prevalent during the first fortnight of March and that during which in the years 1940-1942 (inclusive) the average number of telephone calls per diem per subscriber was 1.5 in the last week of February to 2.93 in the first week of March—he had, with full Cabinet approval, agreed to release the information at once.

The Committee warns young ladies that the apparently attendant upon excessive telephoning, but the Minister pointed out that, while connection between hiccups and telephoning may be regarded as fully established, yet it is at present quite uncertain whether hiccups are caused by actual talking on the telephone or by the nervous effect of a constant ringing of the telephone.

For either to affirm or deny the suggestion that a main cause of hiccups is not so much telephoning as such as the irritation caused by a constant reception of wrong numbers, which is alleged to set up a deleterious effect on the sub-jugular gland. It appears that hiccups are more prevalent in Peckham than they are in Weymouth. He emphasized that 47 per cent in the former area complain of having suffered from this disability as against 37 per cent in the latter area, but there are no statistics to show whether wrong numbers are more frequent in Peckham than in Weymouth or the reverse.

In a statement issued later the National Institute of Advanced Knowledge Operatives suggested that a fund of £250,000, payable to themselves, should be set up to facilitate research on this and analogous problems.

Review of Evidence
The Minister's statement that "having considered the report of the panel under the chairmanship of the Statistical Department on the statistical evidence of an association between telephoning and hiccups, and having reviewed the other evidence available to them, the committee are of the opinion that it must be regarded that there is a relationship between telephoning and hiccups."

Though there is a strong presumption that the relation is causal, since both hiccups and telephones have increased during the twenty-five years of the committee's session to an alarming degree, the relationship is not a simple one, nor can we shut our eyes to the fact that hiccups are much more common found among sufferers from delirium tremens—an affliction not caused directly by telephones—than among moderate drinkers. The original paper of Fishook and Karpinski, issued in America in 1930, showed that of 674 hiccups interviewed by these two professors of North Dakota University 417 were intoxicated as against 37 who were sober. The other 20 were listed in the statistics as "between."

The possibility cannot therefore be dismissed, argued the Minister, that hiccups are caused rather by alcohol indulgence than by telephoning as such. Also the research carried out by the Department of Social Science of the University of Louisiana seems definitely to have established the fact that young persons and the influence of alcohol, tend to ring up their "girl friends" more freely than those whose metabolisms more normally inhibited. They also tend to have hiccups more freely. But whether it is that cause the hiccups, telephoning or the telephoning that causes the hiccups is a subject on which it would be unwise to dogmatize until more intensive research has made further statistical evidence available. It is, joked the Minister with a laugh, "another example of the old question whether the hen that came out of the egg or the egg that came out of the hen."

In so far as telephoning is a cause of hiccups, it seems certain that more telephoning is a cause of more hiccups. The effect is not immediate, and would be felt at eighteen, who telephone at excessive length, should be warned that, though they may not feel the effect, an immediate ill effects, it is far from impossible that the years 65-67 will find them hiccuping like one o'clock. It must not be forgotten that Professor Wimsey has shown that females of sixty-five who hiccup are in general less sexually attractive to males than females of eighteen who do not hiccup.

For twenty-five years has been given close attention to this matter writes "Science has shown that the strongest part of a chain is its weakest link. Although there is not the smallest reason to think that anyone will stop telephoning to anything that we say, yet we might as well go on sitting for another twenty-five years just to be sure of it."

Panel Set Up
The article of Professor Fishook and Karpinski first mentioned in 1919 and 1920 the number of telephones in the country multiplied by 47.3. Of the number of hiccups under the same conditions, which might be referred to as the material period, statistics were admittedly not exhaustive, but it seems certain that by 1950 in England and Wales (not including Montmouthshire) the population were emitting at least 17,222 hiccups per second (males 8,117 — females 9,105) and though no exact statistics for 1950 are available, there can be little doubt that this registers a great and alarming increase. Comparable statistics have been reported in all countries from which reliable hiccup-statistics are available. It was certain, however, that telephoning could not be the only factor, since the affliction occurred among non-telephoners, not only in severe cases, but a combination of factors, must be regarded as responsible.

In conclusion the Minister said that the matter was one of the greatest urgency, but he hoped that nobody would be deterred by anything about it.

Sir Harold Highwater, Chairman of the Advisory Committee, said that he could give no indication how many telephone conversations were likely to bring on an attack of hiccups. He added that hiccups appeared to be more commonly prevalent in Westmorland than in Devonshire. He had no more to say.

Mice do not commonly speak on the telephone nor do they generally suffer from hiccups. Peculiar interest therefore attaches to recent experiments with mice which have been undertaken by a group of research social biologists at the University of Vienna. No fewer than eighty-one specially selected

GLADES MARCH OF PROGRESS

Any area inventory of progress will include tangibles such as the excess of cars loaded out this year over last year and the numbers of head of cattle sold this season as compared with those sold last year.

Total building permits issued in the area may be used as evidence of progress just as population growth figures will show that the Glades area is attractive to new residents. Consumption of electric power, numbers of telephones on local exchanges, water used in any given period, these are all given signs that the statistician uses to compile his impressive record to prove that the Glades is progressing.

But these are the tangible evidences of growth, cars that can be counted, head of cattle that can be seen and kilowatts or calls or gallons that can be run through a meter. There are intangible signs of growth that go unappreciated and unrecorded that loom as large in an overall picture of Glades progress.

There is not a community around the lake that doesn't boast new houses and new churches built in styles reflecting both an appreciation of the past and the present. Expressions of taste in brick and concrete show awareness both of the traditional past and the contemporary present. This kind of progress is not readily reduced to a graph or a chart.

It is a manifestation of appreciation for those things which are beautiful as distinguished from those things which are merely useful.

A look at domestic architecture reveals houses built conform with traditional style as well as contemporary pattern. Both styles reflect progress away from buildings serving solely as shelters and reveal appreciation of design for its own sake.

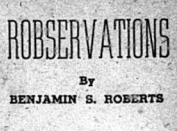

Varieties for worship reflect variations of taste and further prove that progress in intangible things is as real a force in the Glades as are the more tangible reminders of area growth.

Housing Vacancy Check Upcoming

A national survey to determine the rate of housing vacancy will be conducted in the county the week of Mar. 14 by the U. S. Census Bureau, according to Supervisor Olin F. Jones of the Bureau's district office at Tampa, which will participate in the collection of the information.

The housing vacancy survey will be carried out in connection with the Census Bureau's current population survey which collects facts on employment and unemployment. Information to be collected about vacant dwelling units encountered in the 25-thousand-family current population survey sample includes number of rooms in each unit, rent asked, sale price, whether the dwelling is a single-family or multi-family unit, whether or not it is available for seasonal or year-around occupancy.

The current population survey will be conducted locally by Mrs. Andrew Felter of Lake Worth.

FIELD LOT GAINS

C. G. INCOME TAX FACTS No. 6 Don't Forget Job Expenses, Home and Car Deductions

(This is one of a series of articles on income tax changes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants and the Florida Institute of Certified Public Accountants.)

What difference does it make whether you take a federal income tax deduction before or after determining your adjusted gross income? Plenty. Certain deductions can be taken before you arrive at your adjusted gross income, from which you can still deduct 10% as a standard deduction instead of itemizing any other deductions.

For example, a business man can deduct his reasonable and necessary expenses for travel that keeps him away from his home city overnight before arriving at his adjusted gross income. So can an employee when traveling for his employer. This was true under the old law and remains in effect.

The employee was at a disadvantage, however, when deducting other expenses in connection with his work. These could not be treated the same way—unless they were incurred by his employer (in which case, the reimbursement would be counted as income). Otherwise, he could only deduct such expenses by itemizing deductions. If he used the 10% standard deduction, he would lose them entirely.

Transportation Expenses
The new law allows the employee to deduct before determining adjusted gross income all his transportation expenses in connection with his employer's business. These include fares, automobile expenses, and (if in connection with overnight travel) meals and lodging. Employer's expenses other than these can only be deducted if the standard deduction or tax table is not used. The expense of commuting between home and place of work is not deductible at all.

An "outside salesman" (one who usually works away from his employer's place of business) can deduct all his business expenses before arriving at adjusted gross income, just as if he were in business for himself.

Automobile Deductions
To deduct automobile expenses in connection with business travel you should first add up the total cost of maintaining your car, including depreciation, gasoline, oil, repairs, and so on. Divide this total by the number of miles you drove in 1954 to find the average cost per mile. Then multiply this by the number of miles you drove your car for business travel only. This will give you the amount you should

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Finally Talked Herself Out

A certain talkative young lady almost spent a night locked in "Doc" White's drugstore. She entered Doc's store about 11 PM, going directly to the pay phone. At eleven-thirty Doc went home—not having seen a customer for a half hour. Around midnight he got a call from the store... she had finally run out of conversation (and money) and found the front door locked tight. Doc vowed he'd leave her there to teach her a lesson. But Mrs. W. spoke up: "Now you go turn her loose. It's hard to cut a good conversation short — something only a woman understands!"

From where I sit, however, plenty of men are as hard to pry away from a telephone as any female. Some people are just naturally long-winded, while others are the silent type—just as some of us like coffee and others prefer a glass of beer. The important thing is to be considerate... before friends start giving us the "busy signal."

Looks like Buick's Biggest Year

It's been happening week after week. More people coming in every day to see, sit in, sample and select the '55 Buick of their choice. More people than ever before in our history.

That's why you see so many new Buicks on the road today. And that's why—to meet this unprecedented popularity—Buick production has been boosted to the highest levels of all time.

Buick Sales Are Soaring

The simple measure of it all is this: Buick is so "hot" an automobile that it now outsells all other cars in the United States except two of the best-known smaller cars. And for reasons sound, substantial and thrilling.

Buick styling, you see, was never so crisp, clean, distinctive. Buick horsepower was never so high — Buick interiors never so rich — Buick's great ride never so satin-smooth and steady.

But there's something else, too — something vastly different and exciting.

Never before was there any motoring thrill like the thrill you get from Buick's spectacular new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

It lets you do what a pilot does—switch the pitch of your driving propellers—one way for gas saving in cruising—another way for instantaneous acceleration and getaway.

Your propellers are inside the Dynaflow unit, spinning in oil. You change their pitch merely by pressure on the gas pedal. You get action that was never in any earth-bound vehicle before.

No wonder we're writing up orders and selling Buicks at a rate that's making this the biggest year in Buick history.

And no wonder—when you see our price tags—that more and more people can afford the price of a new Buick.

For all the way up the line—from the budget-priced Special to the custom-built ROADMASTER—each Buick is a stand-out buy in its field.

Why not come in for a visit this week and get a down-to-earth look at the hottest Buick in history?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Thrill of the year is Buick

Health TOPICS

Presented by Your Doctor of Medicine at the Health Service of the Florida Medical Society.

HOME ACCIDENTS
The leading cause of death in children is accidents and most of them occur in the home.

Boiling water left in a tub on the floor, or hot liquids pulled off the stove or table are the cause of many serious burns. The protruding handle of a pan on the stove is a frequent cause of accidents and the result can be fatal. A child should always be watched carefully when he is in the kitchen during preparation of food.

Occasionally the child may ignite his clothing by contact with open fires. In this respect fireplaces are especially dangerous and should be guarded by screens. Only safety matches should be used in the home; even these should be kept from the child's reach.

Easy accessibility to lye, kerosene, insecticides or other poisons may result in a severe and even fatal accident to a child. Large doses of some medicines may cause permanent disability and death. The seemingly harmless aspirin can cause severe damage if taken by the child in larger than the prescribed amount.

When the child swallows some substance it should not have, the physician should be consulted at once. When caustics are placed in the mouth or swallowed, routine emergency procedure should be instituted. In this instance, olive oil should be given to coat the burned area. The best preventative for these types of accidents is to keep the materials completely out of the child's reach.

Infants and young children should not suck on bones of any kind and should not carelessly be allowed to eat carrots, nuts or any other food that is difficult to chew or swallow. Do not let the back of a choking child, shove a finger down his throat or force fluids or foods. Rush him to the nearest doctor.

Accidents resulting from falls are often preventable, not only in the home but in the automobile as well. Protecting dangerous steps with gates and placing screens in windows is a sensible safety measure.

Church Activities In The Glades

Community Methodists Will Mark Last Services In Old Sanctuary

BY DOROTHY TUCKER

A vine-covered Community Methodist Church on SW First Ave., a historic landmark in the community of Belle Glade, will be the scene of special services Sunday, as the congregation meets to worship the last time within its walls.

The church was organized in 1919. This masonry building was constructed in 1934 and has served in a versatile way as temple, social hall, dining room, youth chapel, and Scout hall.

The beginning of the church dates back to when Rev. E. L. Housley, a missionary recently returned from the Philippines, came to this area and served as a Methodist pastor in a building erected in 1920, west of the canal, at the intersection of what is now Second St. and Hillsboro Rd. Rev. F. Connelly and Rev. John H. Hoch also served as pastors in this building.

During the last summer of 1928 a hurricane destroyed that first meeting house and Rev. J. W. Johnson, the next pastor, preached in other buildings offered by the community. During the pastorate of Rev. J. O. Jameson, who came to Belle Glade in 1933, the present building was constructed. Pastors who have served in it include Revs. L. F. Vanderwater, E. Holladay, and the present pastor, H. Edward Garrett.

"Mother" Church Community Methodist is the "mother" church of the area. For many years people of other denominations made the Community Methodist Church their Belle Glade church home. As late as 1954 other denominations organized and now the membership is made up of only Methodists. The present sanctuary will become the dining room and social hall for the church as the congregation moves into the new sanctuary on Palm Sunday, April 3.

The formal opening of the new building will be heralded by a ribbon cutting service at 9:30 a.m. on Palm Sunday. Members will enter the sanctuary for the first time to worship when a ribbon stretched across the entranceway will be severed by Vernie A. Boots, a longtime active member and chairman of the building committee of the new edifice.

The farewell services in the old building will be featured with special music, appropriate sermons, historical highlights and testimonies.

GOOD REVIVAL RESPONSE

Revival services of the First Baptist Church in Belle Glade, are being well attended, and Dr. Malcolm Knight is bringing some great messages. Rev. U. W. Malcolm, pastor, reports. Song services under the direction of Hansford Dicken, as well as his solos, are being enjoyed by the congregation. The services are held each evening at 7:30 and will continue through next Wednesday. The public is invited. The men's brotherhood will have breakfast at 7:30 Sunday morning in the recreation building. Dr. Knight will speak and Dicken will sing. Mills Byrom is chairman of the program committee.

NEWS

for Numismatists

(and all Sunshine Citizens)

Whether you're a numismatist (coin collector) or just an average Sunshine Citizen, when Reddy Kilowatt is on the job, your pennies go far. You'll be amazed at how little it costs to operate electric helpers in a typical Sunshine Service home. Yes, for pennies' pay... today's electric range will help you cook cleaner, cooler, faster and safer. A modern electric water heater will deliver all the hot water you want—when you want it, where you want it.

Yes, in every room in your home, Sunshine Service Electricity makes the big difference in modern living... and does it for pennies a day.

THE INDIAN HEAD PENNY WAS MINTED FROM 1857 TO 1909. IT'S STILL WORTH ONLY A PENNY TO COLLECTORS. BUT THAT'S A LOT WHEN THE PENNY BUYS ELECTRICITY—A MONTH OF ELECTRIC SLAVES, FOR EXAMPLE.

"E pluribus unum" and Abraham Lincoln's picture appear on more than 15 billion pennies! Only five pennies will pay for operating an electric sewing machine a whole month in the average Florida home.

THE LETTER "D" IN THE LOWER RIGHT MARGIN INDICATES THIS COIN WAS MINTED IN DENVER, COLORADO. HERE IN FLORIDA THE PENNY WILL PROVIDE HOURS OF HIGH-FIDELITY MUSIC REPRODUCTION... ELECTRICALLY.

THIS FLYING EAGLE PENNY OF 1856 WAS THE FIRST TO BE MADE IN THE PRESENT SMALL SIZE. IT IS A COLLECTOR'S ITEM. EVEN GARDEN VARIETY PENNIES BUY A LOT WHEN IT COMES TO SUNSHINE ELECTRIC SERVICE.
